Setting the homepage in Wordpress

By default your Wordpress site will display your most recent posts on your home page. Lets say you would like your About page to be your home page and a page we will create called Blog, to display all of your posts.
Page Title

1. First we will create a page and title it Blog and click publish.
Publish

Page Content

2. Next, hover over Appearances and click on Menus.

Appearances

Menus

Save Menu

3. Find the Blog page we created, select it and click Add to Menu.

Add to Menu

Save Menu
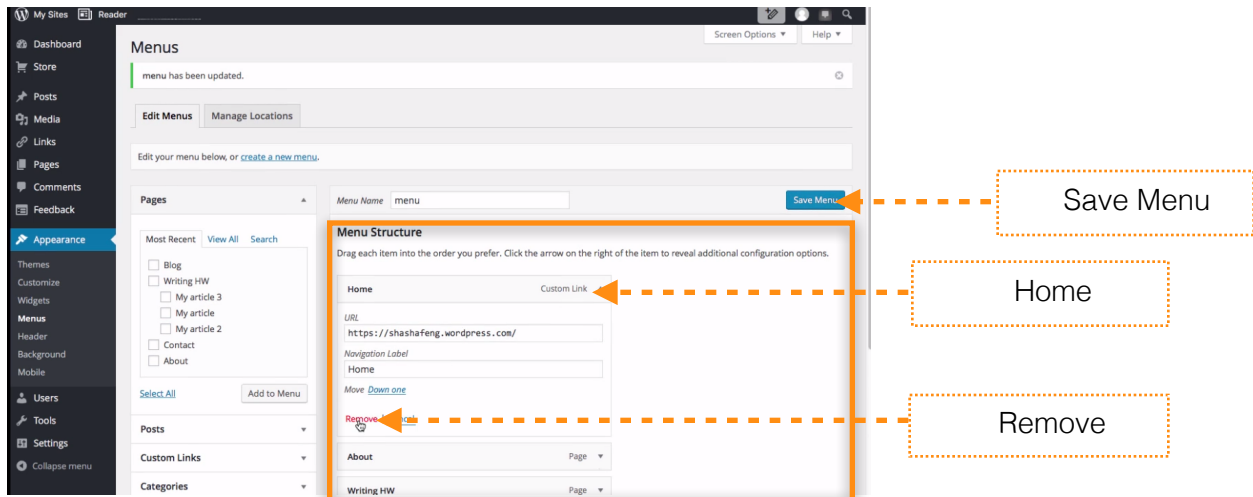

Home

Remove

4. On this section click on Home and then Remove. Once you are done click on Save Menu.

5. Next under Settings, click on Reading
6. When you are on the Reading page click on A static page.

7. Change the front page attribute to About and the posts page attribute to Blog. When you are done, scroll down and click Save Changes.

Refresh your home page and you should see that your about page is your home page. Furthermore all of your posts are now in your Blog page.